Water Plant Appraisal and Gas Rate Measure Before Council Tonight

DEATH IS MYSTERY

Officials Will Consider Gas Rate Based on Charge in Galion

ENGINEERS IN CITY

Approval Sought of Firm Selected To Make Survey of Plant

Two important [illegible] utility matters will be placed before city council [illegible] tonight

The [illegible] in effort of [illegible] differences [illegible] Ohio Fuel Gas Co and [illegible] for purchase of the property of the Marion Water Co

Council is scheduled to receive tonight a recommendation from [illegible] utility committee that a third and final rate compromise offer be made by the city to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co The final proposal calls for a rate of $1 for the first 500 cubic feet 55 cents a thousand for the next 4,500 and 50 cents a thousand for all above that Under this schedule monthly bills for Marion residents using 5,000 cubic feet a month would be $ 48 or 50 cents higher than the rate now in effect here However it would be 3 cents lower than the rate the company seeks to put in effect here through an application now on file with the state utilities commission

Ready for Submission

Theodore B Ochs city solicitor said an ordinance embodying the final rate proposal will be ready for submission to council tonight together with the committee recommendation that it be offered to the company The council committee recently indicated it would recommend carrying gas rate differences of the city and company to the state utilities commission if the company refuses to put this rate in effect The proposed rate is identical with one in effect in Galion and a number of other cities that have settled rate differences since the Ohio Fuel Gas Co won its 10-year rate fight before the state utilities commission and courts

Regarding the city's negotiations for purchase of the Marion Water Co property council tonight is expected to be given opportunity to approve or reject a Chicago engineering concern selected by Chicago and Cincinnati financial firms to make an appraisal of the physical property of the water plant

The approval of council and the mayor must be given before the engineering concern can begin the appraisal under provisions of a contract recently made by the city with the Chicago and Cincinnati financial firms to finance purchase of the water company property The financial firms C W McNear & Co of Chicago and Walter Woody & Heimerdinger of Cincinnati agreed to employ engineers acceptable to the city to make an appraisal at no cost to the city and to finance purchase of the plant if it can be bought at a figure they regard as fair

C O Miles representing McNear & Co and Charles F DeLeuw head of the Charles DeLeuw & Co engineers selected by the financial firms to make the water property survey were in Marion today conferring with officials and preparing to meet with council tonight

CUT IN STATE WAGES URGED

Scale of Pay Now Higher Than in Private Industry, Survey Group Reports

NEW SYSTEM ADVOCATED

Figures Submitted to Show Apparent Need of Equalization

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O July 10—Salaries of many state employes would be reduced if a recommendation of the Ohio government survey to adjust wages in accordance with industrial scales is carried out

Gov Davey who ordered the survey received today a report from its director Col C O Sherrill who asserted state workers received $20 to $ a month more than similar workers in industry

Executive action is necessary the survey committee said to classify salaries so that rates not only will be comparable to those in industry but will be uniform for similar work in various departments

The report did not disclose how much the state would save if state wage scales were put on a par with those of industry Neither did it recommend directly salary reductions

A study by the civil service commission of job and rate classifications of various departments to effect a standardized system was advocated by the committee Figures showing varying methods of paying employes on similar jobs were cited

State employes have drawn full salaries since Jan 1 when a 10 per cent pay cut was automatically discontinued The legislature refused Gov Davey's plea to reenact the slash

The survey was conducted by 140 trained business experts Sherrill estimated that if their recommendations are carried out the state would

Chinese River Cuts Wide Swath of Destruction

By The Associated Press

NANKING China July 10 The sun pierced today the leaden skies which have hung over Central China for the last three weeks but the great Yangtse held its flood level amid reports of wholesale death and destruction

Meager advices indicated that few cities between here and Ichang, 800 miles to the west where the river torrent boils out of the mountains into the Yangtse plain, have escaped without loss of life.

The flood seemed to have struck with particular violence near Hankow. Typical was the disaster befalling the town of Pingchow, bordering on Shasi where two-thirds of the population was reported wiped out by a sudden rush of foaming yellow water

Famine contributed already to the great roll of death

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

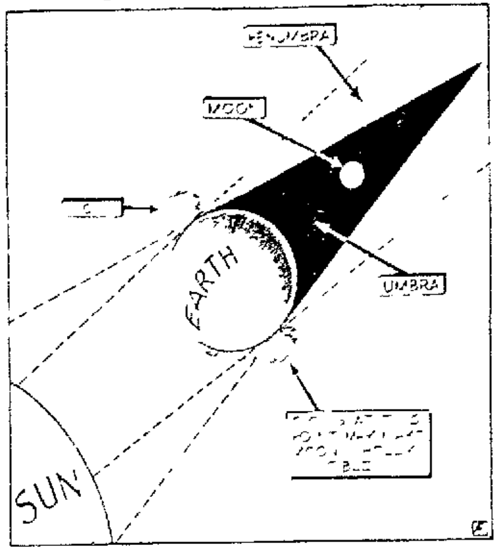
Eclipse of Moon Due Night of July 15-16



This diagram shows what will happen during the total eclipse of the moon on the night of July 15-16. Because of light rays bent by the atmosphere at the earth's edge the moon will be slightly visible even in total shadow unless clouds interfere with this refracted light.

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK — The western hemisphere sees a total eclipse of the moon on the night of July 15-16. For the United States the eclipse begins at 9:14 p. m. eastern standard time and ends at 2:43 a. m.

The real total eclipse lasts from 11:09 p. m. until 12:41 a. m., an [illegible] and [illegible] minutes.

Moon May Be Visible

During this time it may be possible to see the moon faintly, where the sky is very clear. The faint illumination then will come from rays of the sun which are bent—that is refracted—inward as they pass through the earth's atmosphere in the sunrise and sunset belts that border the night.

It will be sunset over Russia and sunrise over Hawaii during the total eclipse. If those parts of the world happen to be cloudy the refracted rays will be interfered [illegible] the center of [illegible]

This [illegible] earth shadow. The umbra [illegible] the penumbra [illegible] of the moon [illegible] The penumbra is an outer shadow, a ring about the moon [illegible]

Like a Bronze Disk

The moon will touch the penumbra first at 9:14 p. m. and be completely in it at 10:12. At that time it should be a bronze disk. Again at 1:47 a. m. it will be completely in the penumbra after passing out of the total shadow.

In this eclipse the moon passes very nearly through the center of the umbra. Its course is slightly north of the dead center of blackness.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Exposure to Sun

Recently I talked about some of the health hazards that confront the vacationist. Today I want to warn about the danger of excessive exposure to the sun. Sunlight has tremendous influence in promoting health if it is intelligently used. But overexposure to extreme rays of the sun may damage and even destroy tissue cells.

All of the visible as well as the invisible rays of the sun have some effect on living things. A deficiency of what was called the ultraviolet rays is responsible for certain diseases of nutrition, of which rickets is a familiar example. This is explained by the fact that sunlight stimulates in the body the development of a certain vitamin, called vitamin D, which aids in the formation of bone.

When the growing child is deprived of adequate sunlight this vitamin is lacking and the bones do not develop properly. Cod liver oil may be used as a substitute for sunlight because it contains an abundance of vitamin D. This substance is often referred to as "bottled sunshine" and is extremely useful in child health.

The human body must have a certain amount of sunlight. Sunlight helps to build up resistance against disease and infection. During the winter months we receive less direct sunlight and then it becomes necessary to obtain the protection by the increased use of such foods as milk, vegetables, fruits, meat and cod liver oil, all rich in vitamins.

During the summer months many of us are eager to acquire that admired coat of tan. This healthy appearance of the skin gives one a feeling of well being. But unfortunately some persons are overzealous in their attempts to obtain the tan and in consequence may subject their bodies to severe [illegible] you will agree [illegible] of the quickest ways of spoiling a perfect [illegible]

Philosophic Neutrality

[illegible] attitude [illegible] of [illegible] rality as it exists with regard to Italy's preparations for a campaign against Ethiopia. One is that of the statesmen [illegible]. The other is that of the [illegible].

The former is concerned with the complex material of international law and treaties. As manifest up to this point it is an attitude of [illegible]. The United States has no grounds for speaking in behalf of either Ethiopia or Italy if one disregards the treaties outlawing war. There has been of course no war yet only preparation for war which is an entirely different matter.

Popular opinion obviously is on the side of Ethiopia for a reason not connected in any way with law or treaties. Ethiopia is the underdog and it is human nature to show compassion for the underdog frequently with scant regard for logic, the fulfillment of national destiny and other impelling realities.

Unfortunately popular opinion has been known to exert serious influence on official opinion. Serious trouble has been caused thereby because popular opinion is notoriously subject to emotional appeals. Obviously if it were possible to bar emotionalism from international disputes there would have been less grief attendant on many settlements.

It becomes therefore a serious duty of thoughtful Americans as the Italians and Ethiopians prepare to join their issue to maintain what might be called a philosophic neutrality. As individuals they should be careful not to stray far from a viewpoint of detachment. One bitter experience should be enough to teach Americans that the intercessor has nothing to gain and everything to lose.

Proving Something

The American league's third straight victory over the National league in the midsummer all-star classic gives baseball fans a subject of conversation for another year. It begins to look as though the younger circuit had the Indian sign on its older brother.

The American league stars seem intent on proving that the two world championships wrested from Detroit and Washington in 1933 and 1934 were more lucky than meritorious and they are doing a good job. But going back through 24 years of world series records one discovers 15 victories for the American and only 9 for the National league. So actually there isn't any point in rubbing it in.

Probably the only thing proved by the three meetings is that every baseball fan should [illegible] but rarely does. A good team can lose three games in a row without proving anything except that baseball is that kind of a game.

The Surveyor

Washington D C is a dot on the map of the United States. The White House is a dot on the map of Washington. The country knows virtually everything that happens in Washington and in the White House but the White House and Washington have difficulty knowing what is happening in the country.

That is a grave problem in national politics. Representatives and senators reflect only imperfectly the attitudes of their constituents. Newspapers which frequently tell more about what is happening in Washington than in their own districts do not provide much help. The party organization tries to keep its leaders informed but political [illegible] biased.

[illegible] and their advisers need to know [illegible] millions of citizens whom they [illegible] and who never see them are thinking. Particularly do they need reliable information when preparing for a [illegible] election. Thus it happens that the [illegible] is sending James A. Farley [illegible] on a tour to [illegible] the truth.

Mr Farley [illegible] will be going to Hawaii [illegible] to Washington [illegible] politicians [illegible] he goes back [illegible] master general [illegible] to the 1936 [illegible].

And what will Mr Farley find? [illegible] ever will know. The report [illegible] will be something like [illegible] of representative citizens [illegible] will be reelected in 1936 without trouble.

[illegible]

One or Three Teaspoonfuls?

[illegible]

[illegible] should be remarked for [illegible] liquidation [illegible] that kind of a setup.

One or two things must be clear to all [illegible] members. [illegible] must be [illegible] or suffer the [illegible] consequences. Taxation [illegible] therefore [illegible] equal importance with taxation for [illegible] distribution of [illegible] which is President Roosevelt's avowed purpose. Besides [illegible] some congressmen see another. It is the fact that taxation [illegible] is going to get down [illegible] to the middle classes where the voters are numerous. They don't like the idea, which is one good reason for venturing the prediction once more that no real schedule of taxes [illegible] will be enacted during the current session of Congress.

Not So Smart

It is customary to point out when commenting on Huey Long's antics that he is a smart politician. That means he knows how to get what he wants.

How smart is Sen Long? Is he smart enough to be president of the United States —or rather to get to be president of the United States? Can he make himself a big dictator?

There are two Huey Longs, the messianic wealth sharer and the Louisiana politician. In the first character he invites the confidence of the discontented. In the second he shows what he believes should be done with political power.

He has made Louisiana an autocracy subject to his pleasure. He is the state's dictator. Representative government has been omitted from his plan, which might be summarized as machine politics without apology.

How smart is Sen Long? Will his wealth sharers be willing to swallow [illegible] for the [illegible] of lending strength to the Kingfish's [illegible] and childish [illegible]? If Louisiana is a sample of what he has to offer he needs a more attractive sample. Sharing the wealth is one thing. Sharing political rights with a politician who obviously isn't interested in the principle of representative democracy is another. Huey Long may be smart but he has outsmarted himself by his antics as dictator of Louisiana.

Russian Lullaby

Chancellor Hitler doubtlessly is among the European and Asiatic statesmen interested in the fact that [illegible] intends to encourage an increase in its [illegible] population. Germany, taking its cue from Italy, has been trying to produce the [illegible].

Good communists [illegible] will not [illegible] in both cases. [illegible] of capital [illegible] is different with its experimental system of modified [illegible] theory.

[illegible] the right to [illegible] capitalist [illegible] in increasing the population.

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON July 10—Stranger things may have happened in Washington than those now happening on the wealth tax plan but if so no one can now remember them. It may be the neatest and then again it may be the stupidest.

The latest chapter in this serio-comic mystery story hinges on the appearance of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau before the house ways and means committee. He was supposed to offer the new plan but when asked about the apparent [illegible] had never heard of it. He declined to say how much additional revenue the treasury wanted if any. He refused to hint at what rates he expected. All he knew about taxes was what he read in the President's message.

This left the poor old Republicans flabbergasted. No one ever tells them what is going on inside. They tried to ask questions but the Democrats leaped at them with charges that they were trying to oppose taxes on the wealthy. Mr Morgenthau stood on one foot or the other saying nothing.

It looked almost as if the Democratic committee members had entered into a conspiracy to protect Mr Morgenthau against saying anything. That is exactly what happened.

Demands

The inside story dates back to a conference at the White House a few days earlier (July 4). The Democratic committeemen (Doughton Hill Cullen Cooper) filed into the President's study on that occasion with perplexed brows. They tried to be deferential but hinted broadly that the President's wealth tax idea was somewhat ridiculous. In fact they are supposed to have used that exact word but in a less offensive way, something to the effect that the idea placed them in a ridiculous position.

Their contention was that the rates suggested by Senator Harrison (for the administration) would raise only $134 000 000 (not $340 000 000 as Harrison contended or $110 000 000 as some of the House members have estimated). They did not object to breaking up big fortunes or confiscating big incomes. But they believed a more logical revenue excuse for such a step should be devised. They knew that the only place to raise more revenue was in the lower class of taxpayers, the middle men, the successful business executives, doctors, lawyers, the people who receive good salaries.

Therefore they demanded an extension of President Roosevelt's plan to include these.

Concessions

It is said the President was cool to this suggestion. As they understood it what he wanted was to break up the big fortunes to start taxing bigness among corporations.

But the congressmen insisted there had to be more than social reform in the new tax program. For once they won an argument with the President. At least they now think they won.

All they base their conclusions on is [illegible] the President [illegible] of his shoulder [illegible] shrugged as if to say [illegible] but he [illegible] nothing.

The only thing he [illegible] was that Congress do nothing to the bill [illegible] an ad[illegible] measure.

Deal

Mr Morgenthau [illegible] as a witness [illegible] right [illegible]. He was [illegible] the conference and [illegible] the president [illegible] rather than the congressmen [illegible] ought to appear before the ways and means committee.

[illegible]

They [illegible] asking questions [illegible] he would just come up and offer a few vague observations. That is what happened.

NEW YORK July 10—Some of the published comment about the giving back of securities underwriting privileges to banks of deposit strikes informed New Yorkers as a trifle silly. For instance you might gather from such accounts that the banks would refuse to make use of the restored opportunity because they would be subject to the liabilities of the securities act. That's pure bunk. Naturally they would have preferred exemption from these liabilities—which Senator Glass tried to grant them in this draft—but they've been watching the act in operation and they are perfectly aware there's no real cause to be skittish about it. They won't pass up the golden chance to rehabilitate depleted earnings because of ghosts that have proven innocuous in practice.

The one possible hitch in this direction is the attitude of certain treasury officials—especially the comptroller of the currency. They seem to take this liability specter quite seriously and reports are current that they may try to block the amendment to permit underwriting on the ground that national banks and federal reserve member banks shouldn't take such risks. Bankers snort at such uncalled for timidity and would be furious at anyone responsible for slamming the gate in their face with the Promised Land in sight.

While [illegible] bankers in general will welcome their commercial brethren back to the fold because of the added capital they can contribute in the underwriting field some of the major houses shiver at the prospect. In the old days the big banks had the most profitable corporate clients for security offerings sewed up for themselves. When they were forced out of the securities business these companies became fair game to anybody who could land them. Now that the banks are about to return [illegible] fear old ties will be reestablished and they will find themselves frozen out.

Promoter

Another misapprehension you may have read about is that the limitations on participation by any one bank in any one issue [illegible] that the banks won't be interested. Your correspondent has [illegible] found a banker who [illegible] feels that permission to use 10 per cent of capital and surplus for total underwritings gives him plenty of room to work up a [illegible] the securities [illegible]. Some of them [illegible] the administration [illegible] end of the business.

[illegible] case the informed predict [illegible] can [illegible] what amount [illegible] wants.

Financial insiders [illegible] George L Harrison of the New York federal reserve bank did more than anyone else to promote the idea in Washington that commercial banks must be permitted their former underwriting privileges if the capital market is to open up as desired. He would run well in a Wall Street popularity contest right now.

Scared?

The securities exchange commission privately isn't so proud of its system for regulating over-the-counter security dealers.

The only disciplinary action they can take against dealers of questionable reputation is to refuse to let them register—and they practically have to be guilty of murder before we can do that. Actually there are only three grounds on which applications for registration can be barred: conviction for a felony within the past 10 years [illegible] court [illegible] permanent injunction against operation by the applicant or [illegible] proof of misstatements in the application. This leaves plenty of leeway for [illegible] who [illegible] stuff on their customers in the past but have never been pinned down for it in the courts. In fact they will be in a stronger position than ever because they can point to the commission's acceptance of their registration as evidence that they must be O K.

Only about 4000 dealers have [illegible] up out of a total estimated between 6000 and 8000. Nobody knows what's happened to the others. There's a theory abroad that the gyps have been scared out —but the commission doesn't subscribe to any such hopeful interpretation.

Choice

Informed sources say that Federal Reserve Governor Eccles' real sentiments about what Senator Glass did to his precious banking bill are quite different from his gracious public acceptance of the situation. He [illegible] reported as privately [illegible].

But Eccles had his orders and obeyed them. The administration wants no further fight on the bill. The governor had [illegible] to swallow the bitter dose as prettily as possible or blow off and find himself out of a job.

STATEMENT DEFENDS CLOSING OF LAKES

Officers of Morrow County Sportsmen's Group Back Department

A statement in defense of the order of the state conservation department in closing [illegible] lakes near Mt Gilead was [illegible] Morrow County Sportsmen's [illegible] and the Morrow County Hunters association

The statement [illegible] a letter to The Star [illegible] a [illegible] of the state department [illegible] closing order

The statement follows

In behalf of sportsmen of Central Ohio we wish to correct a false impression [illegible] sportsmen in regard to the [illegible] of the state lakes northeast of Mt Gilead

The lakes were closed last month by the division of conservation for a five year period to permit the propagation of fish and to improve fishing in the Whetstone and Olentangy rivers The conservation department has also approved sites for small [illegible] ing dams in these two rivers with the expectation that they will become the best bass streams in central Ohio

Shortly after the closing order was issued a [illegible] was made by a number of Mt Gilead men [illegible] business reasons This same group of men are anxious to have the lakes converted into summer resort purposes rather than left a place for the rearing of fish

The lakes were built with sportsmen's money to improve fishing A year ago when the lakes were opened to fishing the lower lake was fished out in [illegible] days When [illegible] the conservation department had no other plan than the lakes should be used for the rearing of fish for Central Ohio streams

We believe that Marion county sportsmen will back the conservation department in its order closing the lakes If the lakes are fished out in less than a week every summer the conservation department's expenditures on the lakes will be of little benefit and the proposed dams will be of virtually no value

The statement was signed by George Sherman as president of the Morrow County Farmers and Sportsmens Conservation league and H B Fleming as secretary of the Morrow County Coon Hunters association

Angel Food

Please give me an angel food recipe I don t blame you for asking for this cake just now It is so good with strawberries and other summer fruits and with the lush desserts made in the refrigerator This is my favorite recipe

Eight egg whites one teaspoon cream of tartar one cup fine granulated sugar one cup pastry flour one fourth teaspoon salt one teaspoon vanilla.

Beat egg whites slightly add cream of tartar and then beat until stiff Add the sifted sugar gradually beating constantly Fold in the flour and salt which have been sifted together four times Add the vanilla Pour into a tube cake pan and bake in a moderate oven 325 degrees F fifty to sixty minutes Turn upside down on a cake rack and let stand till the cake drops out of the pan

Ice with boiled icing Or place cake on large plate and fill center with ice cream and crushed fruit top with whipped cream and serve

Artichokes Again

How do you cook artichokes? First buy good ones those of clear green color with no wilted places Remove outer leaves and cut the stalk to within an inch of the head Trim the prickly tips of the remaining leaves with scissors Cook in a generous quantity of boiling water with one teaspoon of salt added but add the salt only after the first fifteen minutes of boiling Large artichokes take from forty minutes to one hour s cooking the small ones from twenty five to thirty minutes Test for tenderness by pricking with a sharp knife or pulling off a leaf and testing Serve each on a small plate by itself and with a small dessert saucer of melted butter Or if served on a plate of vegetables as in a vegetable luncheon be sure to provide the little saucer of butter anyway

Banana Sherbet

Two cups mashed banana (five to six bananas) six tablespoons lemon juice one half cup sugar one fourth cup white corn syrup one eighth teaspoon salt one egg white two cups milk

Mash bananas and mix pulp thoroughly with lemon juice Add sugar corn syrup salt and egg white beaten stiff but not dry Add this mixture slowly to the milk stirring constantly Place in tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze Stir when mixture resembles a thick mush and again just before mixture is frozen hard Freezing time—about two to three hours Serve eight to twelve

Green Pepper Slices

One tablespoon gelatine one fourth cup cold water one fourth cup hot water two tablespoons lemon juice one fourth cup sugar one cup apricot juice (made from dried apricots) three green peppers medium sized one fourth teaspoon salt

Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water Add hot water and stir until dissolved Add apricot juice which has been made by cooking one cup dried apricots in one and one half cups water Add sugar lemon juice and salt Scoop out the inside of green peppers and wash thoroughly Fill with apricot mixture and stand upright in pan surrounded by chopped ice When jelly in pepper is firm slice peppers very thin Serve about three slices on leaf of lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise Six servings

Ham Mousse

One tablespoon gelatine one fourth cup cold water one half cup hot water one teaspoon mixed mustard few grains cayenne or paprika two cups chopped cold boiled ham one half cup cream or evaporated milk whipped

Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water Add hot water and stir until dissolved Cool and add to chopped ham and mustard cayenne or paprika and whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk Add salt if desired [illegible] has been [illegible] water and chill When firm unmold and garnish with [illegible]

A tablespoon catsup or horseradish [illegible] chopped may be added Six servings

Banana Meat Loaf

One pound lean beef chopped fine one tablespoon chopped onion two teaspoons salt one eighth teaspoon pepper one cup soft bread crumbs three fourths cup mashed banana (two bananas) one half teaspoon dry mustard two strips bacon two bananas cut in halves lengthwise or sliced crosswise

Mix meat onion salt pepper bread crumbs and mashed banana together Add mustard which has been moistened with a little water Form mixture into a flat roll Place in a greased baking pan Cover top with strips of bacon for basting purposes Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F about 1 hour At the end of forty minutes place two peeled firm bananas which have been cut in halves lengthwise or sliced crosswise on top or around loaf Baste bananas and sprinkle with salt

Continue baking for twenty minutes or until meat is done Place under broiler two to three minutes to brown bananas on top When serving slice loaf and place portion of banana on each serving Garnish with sprig of parsley and two half slices of lemon Serves six

THE LOVE-RACKET

A husband can show his wife such gallant attentions in public that she feels almost as self conscious as though she were out with another woman s husband

• • •

The average man spends half his life commuting between his nobler impulses and his lighter loves

• • •

Love in a typical American husband is shown by his willingness to give his wife anything that will make her happy—from the tenderloin of the steak or the heart of the salad to a Mexican divorce

• • •

If you are unattached the men all suspect that you have deep dark designs on them And if you are married you suspect all the women of having deep dark designs on your man So you don t get much comfort either way

• • •

Many a girl thinks she ought to have gotten a millionaire when she can t even make a success of marriage with the half portion she managed to annex

• • •

In the good old days a man s notion of the perfect woman was one with an 18 inch waist a two inch brain and a half inch conscience And men don t appear to have changed very much since then

• • •

Funny but the sort of husband who wants to spend all his evenings at home puttering around the house always seems to be the kind whose wife would give her last hat for a few free hours or a night out with the girls now and then

• • •

Woman must have acquired her reputation for being curious by her little habit of constantly inquiring When are you gonna gimme some money?

• • •

Kiss in haste and repent when he tires—but a kiss deferred maketh the sweetheart stick

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary Tells of Seeing Man Peering In Her Window

I TOLD myself that a visit to the mad hatter must surely be the next thing on my itinerary as I came up to Mary in answer to her whispered summons and saw her fantastic garb

I know she whispered pulling aside the end of the scarf which she had draped over her face The Witch of Endor had nothing on me but I couldn t afford to let any of my face show behind this

She waved the flashlight aloft and then lowered it

I had to be all dark she explained and then at my amazed face broke into noiseless laughter But I saw that her eyes were strained her fingers not quite steady I realized that some unknown experience had shaken her sorely though she was bravely camouflaging it

Someone at Window

I don t blame you for being astonished she said I m a bit *flabbergasted myself But if Svengali or his twin wasn t outside my window just now I m going to stop drinking coffee and tea and take to buttermilk

Put her words had galvanized me into action

Someone outside your window? I repeated Quick Cut into my room I ll get your uncle at once

You won t have to Dicky s voice sounded behind me I m right here What s all the row Mary and why the drapery?

Mary says a Svengali was outside her window just now I said looking steadily at him hoping that he would interpret the name she had given as I had For the mysterious fantastically disguised man who was trailing Mary and whom we suspected to be Jack Lesslie could very easily rouse the image of du Maurier s famous character in the mind of an impressionable person seeing him for the first time

Dicky Understands

Dicky s nod to me was imperceptible to anyone else and the tension of my nerves lessened My husband understood and he was on the job I need burden myself with no further responsibility

Wait here Mary! he said "I'll be right back."

Just a second!" I caught him by the sleeve "Katie was just up here with a tale of hearing things creeping around outside and traveling up the walls of the kitchen."

"Which only proves," Dicky said with a grin, detaching my hand from his sleeve with a burlesqued flourish, "that lunacy is infectious —no—contagious"

He waved an airy goodby to us before taking the rear steps to the lower back hall, three at a time I knew by his choice of routes that he would get Katie's story on his way out. I turned to Mary, trying to make my voice nonchalant, concealing the very real anxiety which was mine on one point.

"Did this Svengali person see you, Mary?" I asked.

I wondered [illegible] was playing me false or were her intent eyes questioning for an instant There was no hint of suspicion in her voice however when she answered me

Not on your grandmother s tintype he didn t she said

Come into my room and tell me about it while I dress I suggested You re such a quick change that you ll have plenty of time to dress afterward

Familiar to Mary

There s nothing I d like better Mary said following me down the hall It s a cinch the Svengalish person couldn t get into my room the windows are barred you know and he s probably a mile away by now and still running but I ve a creepy feeling about going back in there just yet

I ll go with you as soon as your uncle comes back to report I promised The guard outside or the state troops down the road probably have nabbed the prowler by this time or will have him soon

I hope so Mary said with a shiver I don t want to see what Mrs Ticer calls the likes of him again And yet you know there was something oddly familiar about him as if I d met him in some other incarnation There s a thought Perhaps he s a Svengali come to light and I once was Trilby

You re too tall I told her smiling hastening to dodge the perilous question of her odd feeling of recognition of the man There we are Safe in my room I ll lock the door and you tell me everything that s happened while I get ready for our trip

READY MADE WIFE

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

A Caller

ALBERY released her she stared at him like a person in a dream

I am sorry he said and in a miraculous way he was himself again and the incredible scene was blotted out and he was smiling at her a rather sad little smile

It was unpardonable Mrs Moore Do please forgive me and forget about it To show my feelings like that was taking a shameful advantage of you

Laurie was nonplussed He had suddenly brought an atmosphere of tragedy into what might have been a sordid episode

I'm sure you didn't mean it she murmured

That's the sad part of it he replied gravely I did mean it As I said you came too late into my life I am no longer young and you are the woman I have dreamed of always The woman I could have loved But I ought not to have told you so

Oh Mr Albery It sounded almost stupid that whispered exclamation But Laurie was both horrified and in a way flattered This captain of industry whom she had thought of as she might think of any of the overlords of the present day world was telling her that he loved her that he was the woman he had always dreamed of She—his secretary She—the girl who had cheated him lied to him through two years who had been saved from despair and disaster by his kindness and generosity

Mark Albery watching the changing lights and shadows of emotion in her face knew that he must bid his time She might be unhappy but she was loyal

And Laurie as she typed the letters in her office made so many mistakes that she had to do several of them over again

This was destined to be a memorable day for Laurie

When she got back to the flat she found that Gladys had gone out to dinner leaving a message with Mrs Budd that a friend had called for her

Was it a gentleman? Laurie asked

No mum a lady

Laurie felt a fool but she was not quite herself after that extraordinary scene with her employer

About a quarter of an hour afterwards Mrs Budd came in to say that a gentleman wanted to see her and handed her a card Mr Gavin Drake was the name on it

Laurie knew nobody of that name It must be some friend of Rex Moore's

She decided to see him

A slim young man under medium height was shown in Her first reaction was one of sympathy because she saw that he had only one arm

He had yellow hair and a small, neat moustache and wore heavy lensed spectacles. He greeted her with a bow and a long smile that expressed deferential admiration

It is so kind of you to see me Mrs Moore he said

He had a pleasant voice with a marked accent and a confidential friendly manner that was rather appealing His accent she recognized with a certain misgiving

I expect it is Mr Moore—my husband whom you want to see? she suggested

No I am aware that Mr Moore is away in his native element and has just accomplished another wonderful flying feat he answered Of course I should have been honored to meet him but it is from yourself that I wanted to ask a kindness Mrs Moore

What can I do for you? she asked taken aback

I must introduce myself I am Gavin Drake

You are from Australia aren't you? she asked

Yes I come from down under He gave her a comradely smile So do you?

I wasn't born there My father went out when I was quite young

It's like this he told her He sat forward in his chair with his one arm the right one on his knee She thought he was rather like a canary so yellow with his neat face and little black bird like points of eyes behind the thick glasses I'm really over here on a holiday trip but I'm a journalist by profession and I was given a roving commission to represent the New Sydney Record while I'm here And I've had a cable from the editor to get an interview with you

With me Why? Laurie asked

My dear Mrs Moore you must realize what a sensation your husband's return had made down there in Australia it's one of the most dramatic things that ever happened And his being over there for so many months getting ready for his flight and your romantic marriage—why you must realize that an interview with you will be of the greatest interest Such a wonderful, human story Mrs Moore

Laurie felt a little chill

But you'd much better wait until my husband comes back she said He can't be many days now

Of course I shall be thrilled to see him on his return if I am still here" replied Mr Drake with an ingratiating smile But it would be kind of you to give me a little story to cable over there You see it means so much to me I've had rather a bad time."

Without actually doing so he called her sympathetic attention to his empty sleeve. And just now of course, you must know that he is the hero of Sydney, now that they know of his miraculous escape from death. I may say it was the biggest sensation for years Won't you just give me a message to the people of Sydney Mrs Moore?"

* * *

"I don't know what you want me to say" Laurie was at a loss

"Well first of all a message of greeting" he said glibly

"I shall be delighted to do that."

Laurie gets an unexpected week-end invitation tomorrow

If I had managed the team in the All-Star game I might have started Schumacher, but I have no criticism of Frisch for having started Walker and we had no words about it.

Hal May Start Today

At any rate it seems that Terry should not be too disturbed about it. The Giants open against the Pirates in the first game of their Western swing today with Schumacher in shape to take the hill and undoubtedly turn in another of his fine performances.

Meanwhile the Yankees open against the Cleveland Indians at home very much aware of the victory-mad Detroit Tigers who are visiting the Senators down at Washington.

The Yanks lead the American League by only one game and the Indians in fourth place have been playing some good ball at times. The Tigers have had 10 consecutive wins and meet a seventh place club in Washington.
